Who is AENEAS?

- AENEAS is a not-for-profit Industry Association, with members from Large industries, Small and Medium Enterprises, Research institutes, academia, that catalyses RD&I collaborative activity in the Electronic Components & Systems (ECS) value chain supporting the development of the digital economy
- AENEAS membership is free of charge
- Successful participants are asked a small contribution based on the funding received

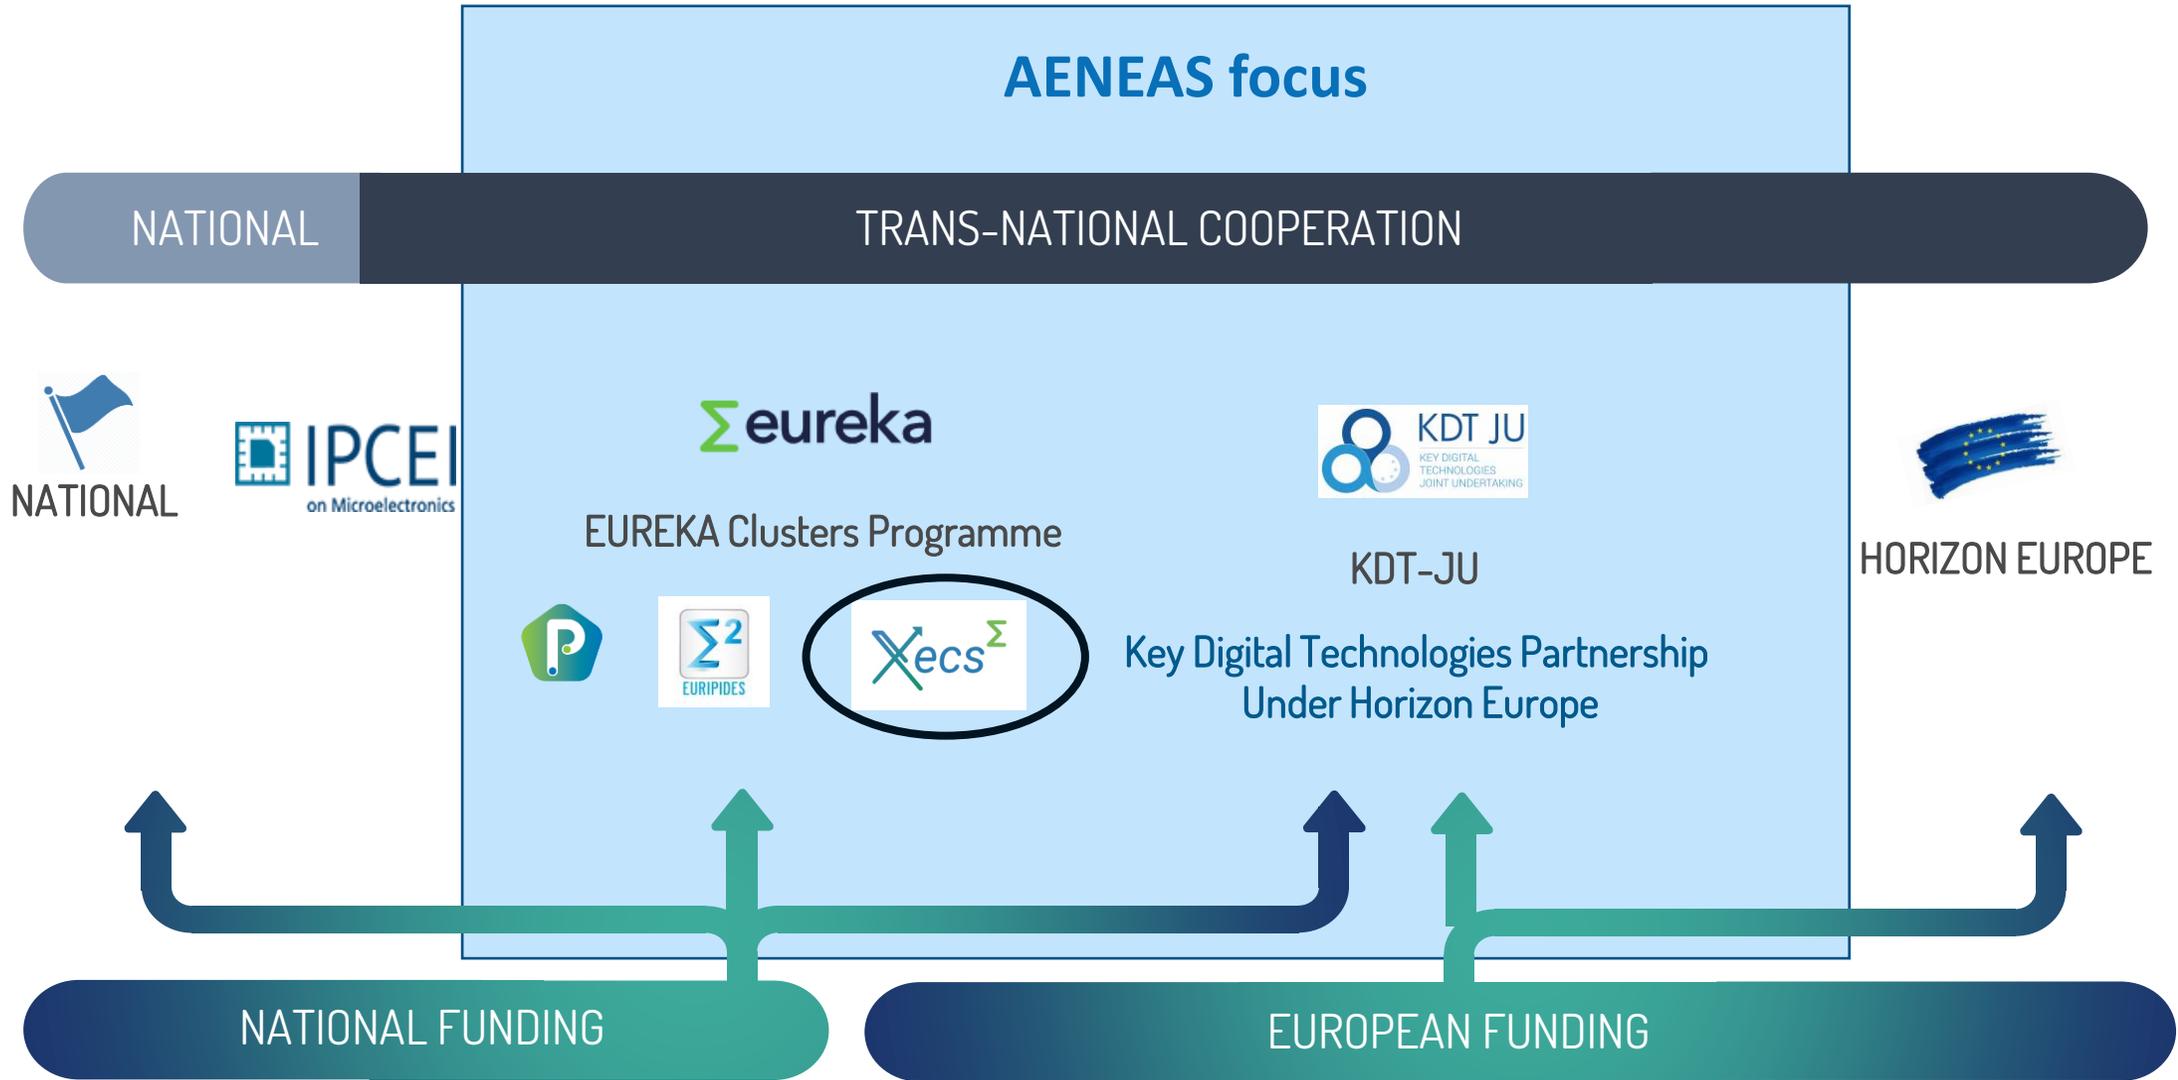

AENEAS members are key industrial players

Kurt Sievers, President and CEO of NXP Semiconductors, is AENEAS President

540 members at the end of June 2023:
50% SMEs, 24% RT0, 23% Corporate, 4% Associate

The EU RD&I funding landscape for the ECS industry

Interesting challenges for Xecs Call 3

- ✕ Basic requirement: follow the ECS SRIA (<https://aeneas-office.org/strategy/ecs-sria/>)
- ✕ Complement other programmes, like KDT and IPCEI ME/CT
- ✕ Disaster recovery and resilience (earthquakes, storms, tsunami, floods, fire, etc.)
- ✕ Climate change, sustainability
- ✕ Work with adjacent communities: Photonics, Quantum, etc.
